8th January 2021 / 8th fed Ionawr 2021

Dear Candidate,

It is important that we keep you up to date with any new exam developments. Early this morning, Qualifications Wales (the Board that oversees all qualifications issued in this country), have made the following announcement.

“ Following the First Minister’s announcement today (8 January 2021) that most pupils will continue to learn remotely until 29 January or possibly even February half term, Qualifications Wales is announcing that the spring internal assessment window for GCSE, AS, and A level, which were planned to take place between 22 February and 23 April 2021, will not take place and new arrangements will be made”

The full statement can be read here: Link to Qualifications Wales GCSE, AS and A level statement

If you are due to sit the GCSE Hospitality and Catering Exam on 14th January this will continue as normal, as outlined by Qualification Wales below and we look forward to seeing you on site on Friday.

“Qualifications Wales has confirmed that January 2021 exams for Wales only vocational qualifications will continue as planned .”

The full statement can be read here: Link to Qualification Wales vocational statement

As we await the new arrangements it is important that you continue to develop your skills, knowledge and understanding. You can be rest assured that your teachers and all staff at our school will continue to support you.

Finally, we are sure we will be communicating with you as we get further updates but, until then, if anyone has a concern or worry, please do not hesitate to contact us on the following email addresses: Strategic leader for KS4 and KS5 mgriffiths@milfordhavenschool.co.uk, or jletten@milfordhavenschool.co.uk

Yours sincerely,
